

EXECUTIVE BIOGRAPHY

Cindi Merifield Tripodi
Executive Director
Pause Parent Play

As the Executive Director of Pause Parent Play, Cindi Tripodi is spearheading the group's efforts to make it easier for parents to decide which movies and shows their kids watch, songs they listen to and video games they play.

Cindi has spent more than a decade in various roles working on issues related to children's media environment. From first-hand experience with her own children, to industry executives to Congressional leaders, Cindi has been instrumental in bringing people together.

Previously, Cindi served with Jack Valenti as the vice President of Congressional Affairs for the Motion Picture Association of America (MPAA). She worked on behalf of the Association on issues relating to media violence, and helped to develop the TV ratings system. Prior to joining the MPAA, she was the Assistant Director of Congressional Affairs at the American Medical Association.